The Fair Media Council is one of the oldest, most successful media watchdog organizations in the country.

Founded in 1979, FMC is a 501c3 nonprofit organization serving the public interest in all matters relating to media. It advocates for quality local news, and works to create a media savvy society.

FMC is comprised of about 200 businesses and nonprofit organizations.

Signature events include April 22, 2016's Folio Awards, honoring the best in news as judged by the public with a special Lifetime Achievement Award presented to Ernie Anastos; FMC Summer Social Media Boot Camp, which teaches organizations social media best practices for business; and Connection Day, the largest conference in the country to bring media and community together for a day of open dialogue, relationship building and mutual understanding. Boot Camp will be on July 15, 2016, and FMC Connection Day will be held Oct. 21, 2016.
